

Empowering Your Institution

Advanced Training for Higher Education Professionals

Higher education is undergoing a profound transformation, and the key to navigating this new era lies in unlocking the full potential of your people. University faculty and staff must navigate complex technological advancements, evolving student needs, and strategic institutional goals. Learning Tree International partners with you, offering comprehensive training solutions to equip your employees with the essential skills to excel, innovate, and propel your institution forward.

We understand that university staff balance demanding teaching, research, and administrative responsibilities. That's why our training is built to be as flexible and adaptable as the academic environment itself, ensuring your teams can upskill without disrupting their essential work.

A Trusted Partner to Leading Educational Institutions

Learning Tree International has a proven track record of delivering transformative learning experiences for universities around the world. Our partnerships are built on a deep understanding of the academic sector and a commitment to delivering measurable results.

London-based University

The university's Information Services Division sought to enhance digital responsiveness and scalability using Agile/SAFe frameworks. Learning Tree delivered multiple SAFe Scrum Master and Product Owner/Product Manager in-person training cohorts over 3-4 years. This boosted team agility and collaboration, earning exceptional feedback and supporting the university's strategic digital transformation goals.

Penn State University

We've trained over 1,200 Penn State IT employees in the last decade, boosting their skills and confidence in cloud computing, information security, and project management. Using private team training and Learning Tree Vouchers, Penn State IT invests in staff development to meet evolving university needs.

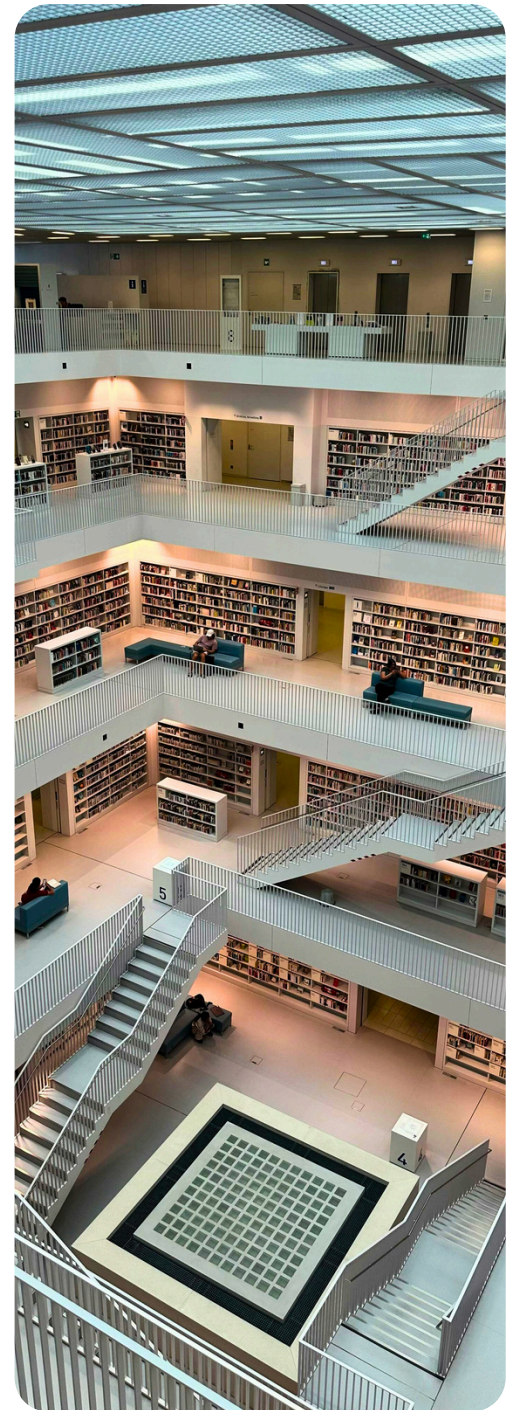

De Montfort University

To prepare university students for a smooth transition into the professional world, Learning Tree designed and delivered custom ITIL and PRINCE2 training, equipping students with industry-recognised skills.

London-based University E-Learning

Learning Tree developed a 30-40 minute e-learning module with a London University. It focused on fair, transparent, and inclusive promotions, aligning with the University's Academic Careers Framework (ACF). Built with Articulate Rise and interactive Storyline activities, the course trains decision-makers to apply evidence-based criteria, reduce bias, conduct fair panels, and give constructive feedback. It uses explainer videos, interactive elements, AI audio, and custom visuals to ensure consistent, unbiased, and effective promotions.
