Dreamland - Tuscaloosa

John "Big Daddy" Bishop opened the original Dreamland in Tuscaloosa in 1958. It was originally the most basic of restaurants with few sides and fewer niceties. But one of the niceties was hickory-fired ribs with a special sauce that soon had barbecue fans dropping in from all over the world. There are more sides and niceties now, but the savory ribs remain the same.

Bates House of Turkey - Greenville

Welcome to Thanksgiving every day. The Bates family has had a free-range turkey farm near Greenville since 1923. But more than a half century ago, the family decided to open Bates House of Turkey, featuring not just their turkeys, but their turkey recipes. People have been stopping by for sumptuous hickory smoked turkey sandwiches and old-fashioned roast turkey dinners ever since.
