

ALIGNING PEOPLE, PROCESSES & TECHNOLOGY TO CREATE A WORLD-CLASS IT ORGANIZATION

Challenge: A Large Government Agency Seeks to Modernise Websites

Outdated and non-responsive websites were creating a poor customer experience, inadequate search engine results, and a lack of real-time data for users. The Agency recognised the need to train their development teams in current web development and Agile methodologies to be able to meet this challenge.

SOLUTION: Customised Workforce Optimisation

The Agency invested in training curricula, including modern web development, Agile methodologies, and data warehousing to create a robust online interface.

The Agency moved from traditional waterfall models to Agile methodologies in order to launch new websites using an iterative approach.

In addition to customised courses, Learning Tree provided after-course instructor coaching to reinforce the practical application of the concepts taught in class.
