

Grid Dynamics recognized as AWS Advanced Consulting Partner

What's the news: Grid Dynamics has been named an Amazon Web Services (AWS) Advanced Consulting Partner.

Why it matters: Customers of AWS can best serve their end customers by working with an AWS Advanced Consulting Partner with proven, advanced expertise in AWS and cloud-native technologies.

Who's it for: Digital natives and growth-oriented enterprises looking to leverage AWS technologies.

SAN RAMON, Calif. --(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Grid Dynamics Holdings, Inc. (NASDAQ:GDYN) (Grid Dynamics), a leader in enterprise-level digital transformation services and solutions, announced that it has been recognized as an (Amazon Web Services) AWS Advanced Consulting Partner. This designation is awarded to companies with a strong team of trained and certified technical individuals and have proven customer experience in helping customers architect, design, build and deploy solutions on AWS. Working with an AWS Advanced Consulting Partner like Grid Dynamics gives AWS customers confidence they are aligned with pre-vetted, proven engineering teams which can quickly and efficiently deliver solutions with the advanced capabilities and benefits of AWS.

Grid Dynamics' team of experts provides access to cloud-first solutions powered by the AWS platform — including customer experience, application modernization, data analytics, machine learning, business intelligence tools, and more. The Grid Dynamics Analytical Data Platform, an accelerator for analytics and insights, is available in AWS Marketplace and has been leveraged successfully by several top-tier enterprise companies.

"We're proud about the progress made in enhancing our technical capabilities, as recognized by AWS as an Advanced Consulting Partner. It is an acknowledgement of our skills and a result of several successful cloud transformation projects for our joint customers. We will continue to invest in building our competencies and accelerators, for enterprises to leverage AWS for positive business outcomes" said Rahul Bindlish, Vice President, Strategic Business Development at Grid Dynamics.
